Our Services

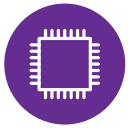

Our team is here to help with projects big or small. Most of what we do is tailormade; whether you need unique equipment or a custom service, we'll work with you to find the perfect solution.

Our services are flexible and wide-ranging. We can help you equip your factory with the right products or use our technical know-how to tackle any industry challenge you're facing.

Expert Customer Support

From your first question to final delivery, our experienced team is by your side. We'll give you the clear advice and information you need to make the right choice for your business. But it doesn't stop there. We're also here to help with installation, setup, and training. Whatever you need to get started smoothly.

Exclusive Supplier Agreements

Megatech is proud to be the exclusive UK distributor for several global product lines, and for some products, our reach extends into Europe and beyond. We've built close partnerships with our suppliers, so you always get the best technology possible.

Troubleshooting and Service by Factory-trained Engineers

Whether you need on-site help, remote support, or repairs at our Midlands facility, we'll make sure you get top-quality service every time. Our engineers are backed by our suppliers, so you can trust you're in good hands.

Application/Project Analysis and Technical Advice

Our team is ready to dive into your project and offer the expert guidance you need to find the right solution. With decades of hands on experience, we tailor our service to fit your goals and your budget.

Decades of Experience in Semiconductor Equipment Sales and Support

Megatech was founded in 1973 and has accumulated decades of knowledge and experience in serving the semiconductor industry. We have long-standing relationships with customers and suppliers that allow us to provide a service second to none.
A service that keeps our customers coming back time and time again.

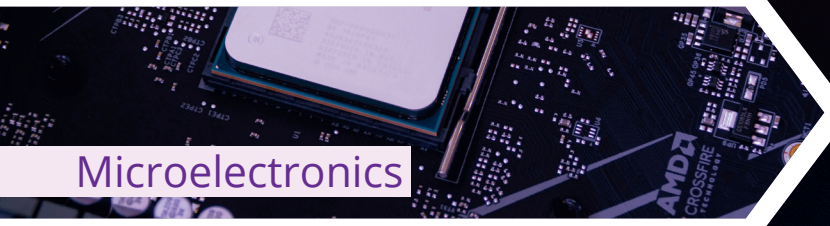

Shop Online With us

Our online shop enables customers to purchase a selection of product lines. This includes Megacold, which distributes the Teyu S&A Recirculating Water Chillers, and our speciality packaging brand Megapack, which sells Entegris items such as chip trays and wafer storage options.
